

The diagram shows a net for an A4 folder. It consists of a large rectangular main body, a top flap, a bottom flap, and a side pocket. The main body and flaps are outlined with a thick blue line representing the fold. A thin magenta line indicates the trim area. A light blue shaded region within the main body and flaps represents the safe area for text and images. The side pocket is a smaller rectangular piece attached to the left side of the main body.
